

Commission for what they have done.

PRESIDENT: Motion is the adoption of LR 295. All those in favor vote aye, opposed vote nay. Please record your vote on the motion to adopt LR 295. Have you all voted? Have you all voted on LR 295? Have you all voted? Record the vote, Mr. Clerk.

CLERK: 26 ayes, 2 nays, on adoption of LR 295, Mr. President.

PRESIDENT: The resolution is adopted. Now LR 296.

CLERK: Mr. President, 296 offered by Senator Pappas found on page 2632 commemorates the work of the Commission on the Status of Women.

SENATOR PAPPAS: Mr. President and colleagues, I introduced LR 296 for the same reason as the first two. I think this is one a few people like to talk on too and I'll allow them the opportunity and I hope it passes unanimously.

PRESIDENT: Is there discussion on the LR 296? Senator Chambers.

SENATOR CHAMBERS: Mr. Chairman and members of the Legislature, this reminds me of the bizarre practices that occur when a person dies in this society. Erstwhile enemies come, they look over the coffin, they pretend to be sorrowful and then somebody gets up and makes all kinds of good statements, glowing compliments are paid about what a wonderful person is lying in the coffin. There was one of those instances and the compliments came so hot and heavy for this politician that the bereaved widow stopped weeping, she raised the net from her face and went and looked in the coffin and they asked, why did you do that? She said, I didn't recognize as my husband the one you are talking about. So all of those things will be said after the person is dead and can no longer be a problem. When Martin Luther King was trying, through what was called nonviolence, to turn the other cheek and making insane statements such as, if blood must flow in the streets, let it be our blood and not that of our white brothers, he was fought every step of the way and wound up being assassinated. Then after he was dead, what one of the leaders of the Communist philosophy said, is that a society will take those that had fought the